U. S. TO USE POISON GAS IN WARFARE

THIS IS ITS ULTIMATUM IN NOTE TO WORLD LEAGUE

America Also Hurls Cold Water On To Proposal To Band Drills In the Use of Fumes or Germs—Safety Too Precious To Permit of Stoppage of Measures For Defense Against Chemical Warfare, Is Message—Supervision Likewise Opposed.

Whatever attitude the United States and the world eventually may adopt toward employment of poisonous gas in war time, League of Nations circles read from a document from Wash ington presented to the league Thursday at Geneva that the United States government has no intention to drop preparations for defense against possible gas and bacteria attacks.

In the memorandum, which caused considerable comment in Geneva, the United States throws cold water upon the suggestion that the countries should discontinue their interest in chemical products because chemical factories can be transformed into war instruments.

Washington contends it is well known that a great majority of chem ical products which can be used for purposes in war times the essential to the daily peace-time life of industry.

After emphasizing objections from the American viewpoint to the proposal to make international agreements concerning semi-war industries, Washington remarks that the same attitude applies to possible accords concerning means to hinder the convertibility of chemical factories into factories for the manufacture of poisonous gas.

The American note then rejects the proposal to have banned as a crime military or civilian drill, including air plane drill, in the use of gas and bacteria.

"It may be pointed out," the memorandum says, "that no nation could safely agree to refrain from preparations for defense against attack by chemical warfare regardless of the existence of international conventions prohibiting the use of such warfare.

"Te prepare against attack by such warfare, training in chemical matters is essential.

"To forbid absolutely training in the use of poison gas and bacteria would, in the broadest meaning, put an end to chemical and medical research. Such a measure would be impossible to administer."

There is a vigorous reiteration in the document of American opposition to any form of international supervision of armaments once an armament limitation agreement is reached. As for the suggestions of the league commission for the study of the economic aspects of disarmament that there shoulr be regulation of certain essential national industries, it also is declined by the United States, as is a recommendation for international agreements for an exchange of information and rationing of manufacturers in semiwar industries.

Discover Branch Fossil 100,000,000 Years Old

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A tree branch fossil estimated to be 100,000,000 years old is a prized possession of the Carnegie Institute of Technology here.

The fossil, found in a coal mine at Harmarsburg, Pa., is described by geologists as a "lepidodendron lanceolatum," a plant which contributed greatly to the forming of coal deposits in the carboniferous era.

The woody part of the tree became carbonized with other branches that became coal and the fossil is almost as thin as paper. It is a tree top four feet high with branches spreading three feet. Bark, limbs, twigs and leaves are very clearly marked.

Miners in the Harmar mine of the Consumer Mining company found the fossil in the slate roof of an entry, and the company gave it to the institute.

Foreign Names Barred on Russian Bills of Fare

Moscow.—Roast beef, cafe au lait, consomme and other adaptations of foreign names for foods henceforth will appear no more on Russian bills of fare. The government has ordered that foods in Russia must be called by their proper Russian names to stimulate national feeling in Russia and thereby unintentionally making life a little less happy for foreign visitors.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Cleveland —Frederick A. Cook, Arc tic explorer and promoter of questionable oil stock, may be brought to Cleveland to face indictments returned in 1923, charging use of the mails to defraud.

Middletown — The first case of diphtheria which has proved fatal in several months was reported in the death of Irving Weber, 25.

Athens — John Day miner, was seriously burned when he rescued his two children from a blazing coal shed. The children fired a can of coal oil with matches.

Glouster —The brick plant has resumed operations providing work for 100 men who have been idle since last October. A large supply of coal is on hand and continued operations are anticipated.

Columbus —When Arley Zinn, 17, of Parkersburg, West Virginia, got tired of attending Otterbein college at Westerville he disappeared. Police after searching for him since Tuesday received a letter today explaining that he got tired of school and was working in Akron.

Columbus —The appeal of Warden P. E. Thomas from the decision of the court of appeals granting E. L. Mills the right to interview Pat McDermott serving a life sentence for the murder of Don R. Mellett will be filed in the state supreme court this week.

Columbus — The bill to invalidate contracts of employes and employer not to join organizations would not violate the constitution according to an opinion handed down by Attorney General Turner.

Cleveland —They didn't believe she could earn her own living, so Margaret Croker, 19, high school graduate, decided she'd "show 'em."

Margaret was in jail, waiting trial because police claim they found her working as a bar maid in a west side "speakeasy." The girl said she answered an ad for a girl to do housework and then the "police came and got me."

Tenth precinct police raided a house and found Margaret in the kitchen, and 10 men with Carl Weber, alleged proprietor, lined up before an old-time bar.

The less a man knows the more cheerfully and confidently he advises his neighbor.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

Judge Joseph W. Adkins, of the probate court has rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Sarah J. Berger against the estate of Frank P. Berger, deceased. The plaintiff claims that she is the owner of 170 acres of land in Washington township, that she owned this land prior to her marriage to Frank P. Berger and seeks to collect the rentals for six years previous to his death. The court holds that Mrs. Berger has a legal right to the income from the farm, except for the last year, which was collected by her. The net income per year as nearly as can be shown is $600, and under the decision she is entitled to recover $3000 plus interest.

Milt Morris represented the plaintiff; C. A. Weldon represented the city of Circleville; and I. F. Snyder represented the estate.

Divorce Granted

A divorce was granted to Mrs. Ella Tigner from William McKinley Tigner on the grounds of extreme cruelty and gross neglect. C. A. Weldon represents the plaintiff.

Appointed Guardian.

Alta E. Goldsberry has been appointed guardian of her brother, Bernard A. Morton, a veteran of the World war, who is now in the Dayton hospital.

Suit in Foreclosure.

The Scioto bank, of Commercial Point, has filed suit in common pleas court against D. F. Seeds and Effie Seeds for the foreclosure of a mortgage of $1600 at 6 per cent from December 8, 1925. I. F. Snyder represents the plaintiff.

Given Jail Sentence.

Jesse Swank was arrested at his home in Darbyville by Constable Arthur Strawser, on a warrant issued under the compulsory school law, sworn to by T. J. Morris, county truant officer. In a hearing before Justice Friece he was found guilty and was given fifteen days in the county jail.

Kings Portrayed

The class had been asked to write an essay on kings, and this is what one sent in: The most powerful king on earth is Wor-king; the laziest, Shirking; the wittiest, Jo-king; the quietest, Thin-king; the thirstiest, Drinking; the slyest, Win-king, and the noisiest, Tal-king.

Popularity is much harder to keep than acquire.

LIFE SPAN TO BE 125.

A life span of 125 years and old age of a few months, instead of many years, are among the future possibilities discussed by Dr. Serge Voronoff, eminent specialist in grand operations in Paris, before an assemblage of foreign newspaper correspondents.

It had been established, Vornoff said, that certain men had lived 125 years. "Therefore," he added, "I and others have the right to live that long."

Voronoff said the glands make the human machinery run and consequently the replacement of glands means that life can be prolonged. He added that 1,000 glands had been grafted over a period of seven year, and the future would tell how long the new glands would last.

White House Employs Small Clerical Force

Washington.—With the exception of the fine arts commission which has but two hired hands, the White House has the smallest clerical force of any government department or independent bureau.

Forty-four employees, including three women, are assigned to the executive offices to assist President Coolidge administrate the nation's business.

Uncle Sam employs a total of 560,705 persons to keep the wheels of government moving, compared with a total of 438,-57 in 1916. When the armistice was signed in November, 1918, the largest number of clerks in history, 917,760, were on the government pay rolls.

The Post-Office department leads the field in employees with 305,985. The Treasury department is second with 51,619 and the War department third with 48,768. The Justice department has the smallest number, 3,763, of any of the executive departments.

BROTHERHOOD FARM PROGRAM THURSDAY EVE

Corn Borer Menace Was Discussed by Howard Orr and County Agent Lewis.

A hundred men were present Thurs day evening at the meeting of the Lutheran brotherhood to hear the Farm Bureau program subject, "The Corn Borer," on which Howard Orr, of the Winorr Canning company, and H. S. Lewis, local agent of the Farm Bureau, were the speakers.

Both emphatically emphasized the dreadful results of this devastating pest, of the nearness of this menace to Pickaway county, to the fact that the Corn Borer is proof against every effort to cope with it, excepting one—a one hundred percent clean-up process, which work can be foiled in an entire neighborhood by the carelessness of one single farmer.

This problem is not alone the farmers'. Corn being the backbone from which we all, in the central states, derive our subsistence, it is imperative that Chambers of Commerce, Rotarians, Brotherhoods and all other civic organizations work in harmony with the farm clubs so as to bring about a certainty of all desired projects.

This cooperaion is already functioning—not alone of their own free will, but because the state and nation, by appropriating large sums of money, are demanding full understanding and the closest working harmony of all individuals from both farm and city. To this end the Brotherhood Thursday night passed a resolution requesting our Pickaway county representatives to support the Hamilton Compulsory Clean Up law, to apply in pest ridden sections, which is now before the legislative bodies.

Mr. Lewis intimated that owing to this year's high waters he would not be surprised to find the corn borer in Pickaway county this 1927, water most naturally carrying this larva more hastily than the winds.

Those of us who have heard Mr. Orr on different occasions, on this subject of the Corn Borer, know that he has not only made a deep study of the subject but is doing everything in his power to bring the people of Pickaway county to a full realization of this terrible menace.

The Farm Bureau we wish to congratulate for its good luck, or its fore sight in securing a man like Mr. Lewis, who has had the necessary experience with the borer to make a fine leader, and if snap judgment is of any worth, Mr. Lewis has the necessary qualifications to carry the heavy responsibility that goes with this leadership.

Charles Mack and his assistants served weineis with weinie rolls, cheese, dill pickles and coffee.

Mr. Purnell of the Coit-Albie Chautauqua and entertainers company of Cleveland explained a lecture course of five numbers. He carried a piano accordian with which he gave several selections. He also sang as well as he played.

C. F. Seitz sprung a new set of four harmonizers who sang several voices. We hope to hold them together. Next meeting April 7.

ANTI-SALOON

Prohibition Victim Ordered Released From Jail.

Columbus, March 17.—Alexander "Smokey" Hobbs, colored politician, was ordered released from the County jail by Common Pleas Judge Kinkead late Wednesday.

Habeas corpus petition was filed by Hobbs' attorney, Edward J. Greely, following the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court that it is unconstitutional for a magistrate to receive a portion of a fine assessed upon conviction for law violation.

Hobbs was fined $200 and costs by Justice of the Peace Kuhn of Bexley and was committed to the County jail in default of the fine.

He was charged with possession of liquor. He had been in jail since Dec. 31, 1926.

MAN WHO PROSPERED

Under An Assumed Name Is Nabbed For Murder.

Cleveland, March 16.—(UP.)—Eleven-thirty the evening of Oct. 3, 1920, Charlie O'Malley, in Cleveland from Toledo to do a little bootlegging, sauntered into a black-and-tan joint.

Suddenly he saw his wife, Jean, and Stella Stevens, at a table talking to two men.

"Get out of here," Charlie barked to his wife. "Get up and go home."

Half an hour later Charlie O'Malley, saw a taxicab with two girls and a man in it.

O'Malley jerked the cab door open. Inside was his wife and Stella Stevens. With them was James Graham, 30, cab driver. William H. Doran, Graham's buddy, was driving the cab.

O'Malley seized his wife by the shoulder and dragged her to the street.

She broke loose and ran. He caught her. They struggled. Graham dashed up and hit O'Malley in the face. O'Malley ran to his car, snatched a gun and turned and hit Graham on the head with the butt of the gun.

There was a flash. Graham sank to the street. He was shot.

O'Malley and his companion, the two girls and Doran, the taxicab driver jumped into their machines and sped away.

That is the story A. G. Gordon, manager of an automobile sales company in Lansing, Mich., prominent social, and political figure in southeastern Michigan, told police as he lay in jail today awaiting indictment for Graham's murder.

For Gordon, well dresser, polished, successful business man and politician, is O'Malley.

"I killed him," Gordon says, "but it was accidental. I'll probably plead guilty to manslaughter and take my rap. For seven years I knew this was coming. It's come, that's all."

O'Malley left his wife when he became Gordon, he said. They were never divorced. He contributed to her support.

But he tells a story of blackmail and persecution from the time he learned that Graham had died, until his wife, Jean, came to Detective Inspector Cornelius Cody a week ago and told him that O'Malley had killed Graham, and that her husband, as Gordon, could be found in Detroit.

Gordon (or O'Malley) said today that Toledo and Detroit police had come regularly, tipped off by his wife, to take pay to keep still.

Finally he refused to pay further tribute, he says. He was brought to jail in Cleveland.

His wife and Doran, the taxi driver, told their stories to the Grand Jury Tuesday.

Stella Stevens was brought from Detroit to testify before the grand jury today. Gordon's indictment is expected to follow.

MRS. HALL FILES SUIT

New York, March 16.—Charging the New York Daily Mirror with libel, Mrs. Frances Hall, Henry Carpenter and William Stevens today filed suits for $500,000 damages each against the newspaper's publishers, The Public Press Corporation. The suits were filed in supreme court here.

Each plaintiff declared that the alleged libellous statements were printed in the paper concerning the murder in 1922 of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. James Mills, rector and choir singer of an Episcopal church at New Brunswick, N. J. The plaintiffs were acquitted by a jury at Somerville, N. J., last fall after being tried for murder.

VIC APPROVES MONEY FOR PEN

Columbus, March 17.—The supplementary appropriation bill providing $250,000 for additional cell blocks at Ohio Penitentiary was signed by Governor Donahey Wednesday.

Amount of appropriations in the bill is $4,200,000. Other items are: $2,500,000 for state aid for weak school districts and $100,000 to recompense farmers for cattle condemned in the fight against bovine tuberculosis.

The governor vetoed appropriation of $16,783 for the State Board of Real Estate Examiners created two years ago in a bill passed over his veto. This board has never functioned.

POLITICAL PLOT

That's the Way Reed of Pennsylvania Describes Senate Filibuster.

New York, March 17.—(UP.)—Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, leaving with his wife for a vacation in Bermuda today, described the filibuster in the last days of the Senate as a Democratic plot to gain leadership of the upper house.

He said Democratic leaders had sought to take "from proper hands" the investigation of whether elected Republican senators should be seated.

William D. Vare, senator-elect from Pennsylvania, will be admitted to the next Senate, he prophesied.

THE SHAMROCK, THE ROSE AND THE THISTLE

The shamrock, the rose and the thistle combined,
Have long been as emblems of union entwined;
But oh, they regard not the emerald stem,
Who tear it from earth—to entwine it with them.
For the rose hath its thorns, and the thistle its sting,
While naught can the shamrock but gentleness bring;
And their touch, when they meet, darts the venom they bear
To the life of the shamrock—that soon withers there.
The rose and the thistle together they cling,
And impart to each other their thorn and their sting;
But say, shall the shamrock of Erin be found
With their porcupine prickles eternally bound?
Oh no, in full freshness, unsullied 'twill blow,
When round it no roses nor thistles shall grow.
Too long have their presence retarded its growth,
Then oh, may our isle soon refuse bloom to both.
—O'More.

The Public First In Consideration

In Kemmerer, Wyoming, there is a little one-story frame house which was the early home of Mr. James C. Penney during the days he was laying the foundation for the great family of Department Stores which bears his name and which today is known from coast to coast.

In this humble little abode, business principles were developed which were destined to all but revolutionize the entire fabric of storekeeping.

A uniformly courteous and fair treatment alike to all every business day in the year, was planned and put into practice.

Cash selling and giving the public all the benefits that come from such transactions, were decided upon and made effective.

Operating without so-called "sales" but always giving the lowest possible prices consistent with prevailing market cost, was perhaps the most far-reaching step of all.

Twenty-five years later, it is found that these controlling principles have grown like an oak from an acorn with 773 branches spreading out into 46 states.

Minister Asks Back Salary From "Glory Barn" Evangelist.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 16.—A suit for the sum of $1,975 in which judgment is asked, was filed here by Rev. H. O. Teegarden against Rev. John W. Sproul, "Glory Barn Evangelist," who says he owes him that sum for back salary.

Sproul now is holding services in Faimont.

The minister alleges that he worked for the evangelist in Wheeling, Steubenville and St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. Sproul conducted a series of revival services in Columbus in November, 1925.

"JUST LIKE BLOOD RELATIONSHIP"

"My Affiliation with the First National has been just like blood relationship," said a depositor the other day.

That expresses our ideal of real banking service better than any other words we can think of. Rightly applied, banking service is very much a personal service and requires a definite, individual interest upon the part of the banker.

If you like that conception of banking you would find the friendly atmosphere of the First National very pleasing and our service quite efficient.

MOVING DAY.

As the bird builds her nest,
So has she builded her best—
Poor little tenement mother protecting her brood—
She has given the best she could.

Titter and turn if you must when the cart goes by—
Crippled chairs have a ludicrous look to the eye;
Broken cribs and bureaus battered in
Pillows worn, and mattresses too, thin;
Ragged quilts, insulting to the sight;
Nothing new or fresh, and nothing right—
And yet, from feeble wisps of straw and wood
She has builded the best she could!

As the bird weaves her nest,
Dear little tenement mother whose life is a song
You are helping the world along!
You are worthy a golden name,
Oh, If the safe and sheltered only understood—
You have builded the best you could!
—Angel Morgan, in "Silver Clothes."

A LITTLE TALK ON THRIFT BY S. W. STRAUSS

President American Society For Thrift Gives Some Plain But Good Advice.

Are you making any effort to save something, no matter how small, out of your present income?

Bear in mind you can't spend your money and have it. We are all familiar with the old adage that "you can't eat your cake and have it." There is the wisdom of the ages in that simple admonition, and if people generally realized the truth of it, we would have far less poverty, crime and suffering in the world.

You can't squander all that you earn in days of prosperity and have a competency for the periods of adversity. You can't waste your time in idleness or ill-advised pursuits and hold your own in the race for success. You can't keep late hours, dissipate, over-indulge your appetite, or overwork to an unreasanoble degree, and retain the blessings of good health. You can't associate with evil companions and retain the honor and respect of your worthy acquantances. You can't be a miser in your practices and still have the vision, courage and good judgment to keep up in the procession of progress.

No you can't waste your dollar and have it; but you can spend it prudently and have its equivalent. You can't waste your years and have them; but you can employ them usefully and have the priceless possession of a goodname.

Today's sacrifice may be tomorrow's victory. Hard knocks are frequently blessings in disguise.

Guard your resources; conserve your strength; improve your opportunities. You can not eat your cake and have it. These are the truths of thrift.

COMFORTING MESSAGES AT THE REVIVAL

Large Crowds of Interested People Attend Services Each Evening.

"Wherefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach" was the text chosen by Miss Banning Thursday evening at the Calvary Evangelical church.

The theme tonight is "The Precious Blood of Jesus Christ Our Lord." Naturally it leads us back to the garden tragedy. God made a beautiful garden and put in it two people. They were placed in the holy garden, every thing was beautiful, everything was lovely, everything was perfect and in the cool of the evening each day God would come down to the garden and they would walk together and talk together and rejoice in the wonderfud things of God. But one day temptation came in the garden and Eve yielded, ate of the fruit, and offered it to her husband and he too did eat. Then they went and hid themselves among the shrubbery and when God same down that evening, He called but there was no answer, so He searched and found them hid in the shrubbery. They had sinned against God and lost their wonderful experience, and God killed animals to make garments to cover them, and here we have the first experience of blood for the sins of men.

He took my place, He bore my sins. Oh, the thought of the substiture! You can go free because Jesus has taken your place if you will accept the substitute, because the Father, for the sake of the Son, saves the lost men and women. Every hungry one, every wondering one, every sinner, can come and taste and see that the Lord is good. Christian are you going to go all the way with Him? If you are not sanctified won't you let the blood sanctify you, and sinner won't you come tonight?

Diameter of Atom

Dr. C. G. Abbot, in a report of the Smithsonian Institution, says that the diameter of an atom does not exceed one ten-millionth part of the diameter of an ordinary bird shot. It is, therefore, much too minute to be visible even under a microscope.

U. S. EXPLORER FINDS NEW SEEDS FOR FARM

Brings Back Plants From Orient After Long Search.

Washington.—P. H. Dorsett, agricultural explorer for the United States Department of Agriculture, recently returned to the United States after two and a half years of searching in China and the tropical islands of Sumatra, Java, and Ceylon for plants that may be useful in American agriculture. With the assistance of his son, J. H. Dorsett, he made thousands of selections of seeds, plants, scions, bulbs, tubers and cuttings.

This plant material, after passing inspection to determine its freedom from insect pests and diseases, and after being grown for a time in detention as an additional safeguard against the introduction of pests, will be sent to scientific workers of the department, state experiment stations and other testing gardens to determine its adaptability to our conditions of soil and climate, its possible use for breeding work, and other qualities. Such testing takes considerable time, often requiring ten years or more, before the worth of a particular introduction has been sufficiently established to warrant giving it to the public.

Interest in New Varieties.

Because of the importance of wheat and barley in this country and the increasing importance of soy beans and mungo beans, special attention was given to securing new varieties of these crops.

What is considered as perhaps the best collection of soy bean varieties ever brought to the United States is the one collected by the Dorsetts in Manchuria with the help of B. W. Skvortzow, a Russian botanist teaching agriculture in the high school in Harbin, Manchuria. Upon learning the mission of the Americans he planted 100 varieties of soy beans in the local botanical garden. When the Dorsetts visited the place in the fall after harvest they were told to take what they wanted, plant and all.

This willing foresight on the part of the Russian scientist enabled these explorers to send the 100 varieties of soy beans to the United States in their entirety, thus saving investigators in this country a year's time in securing material for study.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the soy beans grown in China are produced in Manchuria and that upward of 9,000,000 acres in that region is devoted to this crop. Something like 4,000,000 acres of soy beans were grown in the United States last year as a result of previous introductions. It is hoped that among the new varieties will be found some that are suitable for culture in regions farther north in this country and in other sections where the crop is not now grown.

Mungo Beans of Importance.

Mungo beans is another staple crop in Manchuria and many parts of China proper which is of coming economic importance in the United States, said Mr. Dorsett. In their native country they are used as mungo beans sprouts, and are an important scource of their best bean vermicelli.

Sixty per cent of the barley grown in the United States is the result of one introduction from Manchuria. Many varieties of barley were included in the collection because of their possibilities.

Mr. Dorsett will ultimately receive more than 500 seed packets of wheat, barley, soy beans and other grains from the far corners of northern Manchuria where agricultural explorers have been unable to penetrate. No railroads enter that region and mail, carried by foot runners, may be several months on the way. Through the co-operation of the postal commissioner of Manchuria, D. McLorn, samples of these major crops are being secured from each of the areas served by 500 rural postal stations.

Many packets of seeds have already come in and others are continually being received. When the collection is finally accumulated it will be a valuable source of new plant material for direct production and also for selection and plant breeding experiments; and one that was made at a very slight cost to the United States, so far as the actual cost of the plant material is concerned.

The expedition was further aided by the Chinese Eastern railroad, through the hearty co-operation of M. K. Gordeye, chief of the land department, in supplying to the United States Department of Agriculture explorers, free of expense, a private car completely equipped with living quarters. They were thus enabled to travel from station to station, making stops of a week or more to travel on foot into the interior.

Icicles in Alaska Tunnels Delay Railroad Traffic

Anchorage, Alaska.—Huge icicles in tunnels along the route of the Alaska government railroad are interfering with through on time traffic. Last week three pillars of ice several feet thick formed of frozen drippings from ceilings of tunnels between Mile 44 and Mile 52. The ice was so brittle, however, from intense cold that a blow of an ax shattered the obstructions.

Lorna Doone a Myth

Exmoor, England.—Lorna Doone never lived and Richard D. Blackmore's celebrated romance of that name was founded on a myth, says A. G. Bradley, noted English historian.

LEGISLATURE HAS PROBLEMS AND PROBLEMS

The Question of Raising More Money Without More Taxes is Quite Imposible.

Whenever the General Assembly goes into session, which, as we all know is every two years, the press and the people all over the state become impatient and anxious for it to do something in a hurry or adjourn.

We should not lose sight of the fact that in this session there are 172 individual minds; 136 in the house of representatives and 36 in the senate. These men and women come from every corner of the state and represent a constituency made up of all the citizens of Ohio.

Some of these legislators are rich, some are poor; some come from the cities, some from farms; some represent a poor constituency, some a wealthy constituency; and they are all sent here to enact laws that will be beneficial to the people whom they represent, as individuals. But on the other hand, they are expected collectively to enact laws which are beneficial to the entire state, as a unit.

We often hear it said that we don't need any new laws but this is a fallacy, because as times change new laws are necessary to keep pace with these changes. Then again these changes are not taking place in all sections of the state with the same degree of regularity, with the result that these legislators gather together with nearly as many opinions as there are individuals. Consequently, it is necessary for the urban representative to acquaint himself with the viewpoint of the rural man and vice versa.

Because of the ever increasing demand for public improvements; for the welfare of the state; for better schools and other institutions of learning; for new office buildings made necessary by the growth of the various departments of state, it takes more money for our government to function than formerly.

The popular demand is for lower taxes or at least no increase in taxes. So these folks have to solve the problem of how to raise more money without raising taxes. Well, it just can't be done.

Any way if we stop to analyze the returns we get from our taxes we often wonder if they are too high or if we have only joined in a popular cry. We are not saying that the taxation system of Ohio or of the nation is perfect; we are not saying that all industries or all wealth is taxed on a perfectly equal basis; perhaps some of our public money is wasted or spent injudiciously; but that is only a very small per cent. Even in our private lives we all waste a little and we do not make every dollar buy a dollar's worth of service. Our public officials are only human, even as you and I, and we must not expect the super-human from them.

Let us see some of the things we get in return for our taxes—our school system; our city streets; our highways and bridges; all public institutions, such as asylums, homes for the indigent, jails, penitentiaries public hospitals, etc.; our street lights; police protection; fire protection; in fact everything we have that makes the country better than the jungles of Africa comes as a result of our paying taxes.

Everybody demands these necessities but wants the other fellow to pay.

Let us hope that the present General Assembly will take a broad view of the situation and will do nothing which will tend to retard progress in Ohio.

We occasionally hear it said that a road building holiday might be a good thing but we cannot conceive of such a condition.

Let us not destroy the foundation on which the present structure of high way laws is built and let us hope that after this winter's experience, with its unseasonable weather, nothing will be done to retard the development of our highways, both state and county Rather we should demand that greater constructive action be taken.—Better Highways.

Rule for Guidance

We must learn to select out the best that is in us, the best that is in others. Then we shall not have to worry about the Constitution of the United States. —Sherman Rogers.

Shape of the Universe

It is now believed that our universe is wafer-shaped and travels edgewise through space with all its stars and solar systems.

Depicts Future Man as Bodily Ugly, Brainy

Philadelphia.—"A bald-headed, toothless, chinless, thin-shouldered, spindle-legged individual," was the futuristic portrait of the average person of the next generation painted for the Philadelphia Physical Education association by James E. Rogers, director of the National Physical Education Service of New York city.

But the man of the future, though he may have lost all claim to beauty, will be well equipped with brains, Mr. Rogers added.

The one way to avoid having his futuristic sketch become a reality, the speaker added, was for the present generation to return to its "natural heritage of climbing, swimming and running." He indicated that a school day lengthened to conform with the present business day, to provide a more complete recreation program and foster "educational athletics as against spectator athletics," would be a welcome step in American educational methods.

AMUSEMENTS

A story of love and loyalty pitted against hate and avarice in the great north woods is running at the Met theater under the title of "North Star," an Associated Exhibitors' production, starring the famous dog actor, Strongheart.

A boy with no friends, with the exception of his frail sister, is the victim of a frame up, perpetrated by one Robbins, and flees, the dog accompanying him. They are separated, and the dog finds a protector and friend in Notl Blake, who rescues him from two brutal tramps. Eventually North Star, which is the dog's name, brings Blake and the sister together, clears the boy of the charge against him, and pursures Robbins until the latter in his fright fall over the edge of a precipice.

Virginia Lee Corbin, Ken Maynard, Stuart Holmes and Harold Austin, who hold the principal parts are well cast and give interesting and convincing interpretations of their roles while Strongheart, by virtue of his simple and canine nature, is more than convincing. He is himself, and with the help of the others, carries the plot thru to a powerful climax.

Rufus King is the author of the original widely circulated novel of the same name, from which Charles Horan adapted the plot to the screen.

"North Star," is a Howard Eastbrook production, directed by Paul Powell, in which Strongheart appeared thru the courtesy of Miss Jane Murfin, his owner.

Others in the cast include such well known names as Clark Gable, William Riley, Syd Crossley, Jerry Mandi, Marte Faust and Jack Fowler.

HARTMAN THEATER.

The Messrs. Shubert's "The Student Prince" will again offer its altogether bewitching melodic appeal to theater goers at the Hartman theater next Monday night, for a limited engagement of three days with matinee on Wednesday.

This story of a prince who falls in love with a lowly commoner had a peculiar grip on theater goers. It is one of several costume musical offerings that can be said to have a universal appeal.

It would be difficult to place one's fingers on the particular moments of the operetta which interest audiences most. Many theatergoers have seen it three and four times and found in each visit an added beauty that was overlooked on the previous visit.

There is no doubt but what Sigmund Romberg has composed a delightful score. There are so many numbers, which call for encores that to call the outstanding moment of the operetta would be an offense to the beautw of another number in the operetta. "Deep in My Heart, Dear," the love duet between the prince and Kathie has tender lilt. It practically acts as the theme of the romantic environment. "Golden Days," "Just We Two," "The Student's Serenade," "To the Inn We're Marching" and "The Drinking Song" all offer something to bring the audiences' hands togother to demand encores.

The company this year will be headed by Lloyd Garrett, a young tenor who has received flattering commendation from both critics and public. Ruth Williams will be "Kathie." Margaret Cantrell as the princess and Divid Reese as "Detleff." Others are James Heenan, Gertrude Maitland, Emmy Niclas, Carl Formes, the third generation of a family of noted singers, Robert Grieg and Gus Alexander.

There will be a student male chorus of fifty and an augmented orchestra of twenty.

Pajamas Ruled Out; Nightgown "Bob" Now

New York.—The short skirt is going on a 24-hour basis.

That was the outstanding revelation at the annual lingerie fashion show which drew 2,500 people to the grand ballroom of a fashionable hotel here.

Mannequins paraded in the filmiest of underthings to demonstrate what the well-dressed woman of 1927 will wear beneath her outer clothing by day and in her boudoir by night.

There was a striking tendency away from pajamas in the matter of night attire. A new nightgown appeared. Lace and ribbon flowers predominated in its decoration and its skirt—if that is what the lower half of a nightgown can be called—was short, coming perhaps half way between trim ankle and dimpled knee.

The culotte or dance set dominated the showing of lingerie for wear during waking hours.

There was a gorgeous showing of negligees and lounging costumes, some so brilliant in their gold and silver fabric and so formally cut that they could easily pass in any ballroom for evening gowns.

Flesh and Deauville blue were dominating colors.

"Good Shoes for Less"

HOW CAN IT BE POSSIBLE? SKIRTS WILL BE SHORTER

Cleveland, March 16.—Short skirts will be shorter than ever this year if milady follows the dictates of fashion as expressed at the convention of the Ohio Retail Dry Goods Association which opened today.

A survey of model garments exhibited shows that there will be less material in the new spring skirts and that the length will take care of this shortage. The spring model will prevail in violet hues, navy blues, Flemish and queen blues.

SQUEALS ON GANG

Pittsburgh Suspect Says Men In Payroll Robbery Also Are Murderers.

Pittsburgh, March 17.—(UP.)—The robbers who bombed two armored trucks and stole a $104,250 payroll of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Co., near its Coverdale Mine, Friday, belong to the same gang responsible for murdering two men in holdups which netted $91,000 in the Pittsburgh district, Paul Jaworski confessed today.

Jaworski, arrested on the farm of Joe Weckoski, near Bentleyville, Pa., last night, led detectives to the place where $30,000 of the loot in the Coverdale holdup was buried.

$300,000 FOR SALM?

Settlement of Famous Separation Case Is Reported.

New York, March 16.—(UP.)—The separation suit brought by Count Ludwig Salm against the former Millicent Rogers, heiress to a Standard Oil fortune, has been settled out of court, it was reported today from an apparently reliable source.

The report said the Viennese nobleman, whose marriage in 1924 was a sensation in Park Avenue society, had agreed to accept $300,000 and drop his suit.

It is understood that under the terms of the settlement the countess retains custody of their son, Peter.

Both Salm and his wife, daughter of Colonel H. H. Rogers, are now in Europe, but not together.

The Poor Polyglot

A well-known blind beggar, who is able to say "Thank you" in several languages, wears a placard saying, "This blind man is a polyglot." A good woman passing near stopped to leave her offering, and having read the placard, said to her companion, "That poor man! Not only blind, but also polyglot!"—Paris Le Figaro.

Explaining Meteors

Meteors are never seen from the earth except when they come in contact with the earth's atmosphere. Their speed through the atmosphere causes them to burn and produce the light which we see. They are then within the clutches of the gravity of the earth and always fall toward it. —Pathfinder Magazine.

Ohio State Class Brings Total '27 Graduates To 560.

Columbus, March 17.—Convocation exercises at which a class of 155 will be graduated and beginning of the annual spring vacation mark the end of the third lap of the current academic year here this week at Ohio State University. The convocation will be held Friday in the chapel and the vacation officially begins at 6 p. m. Saturday.

With the end of the quarterly examinations now in progress, some 9,000 students will scatter to their homes for a 10-day recess. The spring quarter officially opens at 8 a. m., Tuesday, March 29.

Memorial Day, which falls on Monday, May 30, is the only holiday scheduled during the spring quarter. The new quarter will end Tuesday, June 14, when the annual commencement exercises will be held.

Eight of the 11 colleges of the university are represented in the class to be graduated tomorrow. Dr. Joseph V. Denny, for many years head of the English department, and former dean of the college of arts, will give the convocation address.

The present class will bring the total number of degrees and professional certificates conferred and awarded so far this year to 560. This represents an increase of about 10 per cent over the total for the first three quarters a year ago.

President George W. Rightmire will preside at the convocation.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

HARRY F. SINCLAIR

Of Tea Pot Dome Oil Fame Is Found Guilty.

Washington, March 16.—Harry F. Sinclair, oil operator, was found guilty tonight of having been in contempt of the senate when he refused to answer questions of the oil committee during the investigation of the Tea Pot Dome naval oil reserve.

Justice Hitz will fix the sentence—not less than one nor more than 12 months in jail and a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1,000.

Sinclair unquestionably will appeal the case and will fight his way through the highest court in this case as he has in the civil suit brought by the government for the recovery of the Tea Pot Dome naval oil reserve.

The multi-millionaire oil operator was convicted of refusing to answer four questions propounded by the senate public lands committee on March 22, 1924, upon the sixth appearance in the oil investigation which furnished the sensation of that time.

Sinclair was found guilty on each of the four counts in the indictment, each count containing one of the questions which he refused to answer before the senate oil committee.

Sinclair took the verdict calmly and on motion of his counsel, his bond was continued. Sentence probably will be imposed next week and appeals will be taken through the District of Columbia court of appeals.

Gate of Immortality

Not by lamentations and mournful chants ought we to celebrate the funeral of a good man, but by hymns; for in ceasing to be numbered with mortals, he enters upon the heritage of a diviner life.—Plutarch.

RANCHER'S LIFE SAVED BY HORSE

Animal Waits for Injured Man to Mount.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Harris Rinderneck, a rancher of northwestern South Dakota, is the owner of a horse which he would not sell for its weight in gold. His affection for the animal is due to the fact that it saved his life.

During a storm recently, while the temperature was below zero, Rinderneck was rounding up some of his cattle, riding the horse which afterward saved his life, when the animal slipped and fell, throwing Rinderneck to the ground, breaking his leg and rendering him unconscious. Instead of the horse scrambling to its feet and dashing away, as most animals would have done, it scrambled to its feet and stood patiently beside the form of its master on the ground.

When the rancher regained consciousness he found the horse there waiting for him. Helpless, so far as attempting to walk was concerned, he grasped the saddle stirrup nearest to him, then spoke quietly to his horse and with his voice guided it to a snowbank which was of sufficient height to enable him to crawl to the back of the horse.

He then rode to the nearest farm house, but on arriving at the gate he was unable to make any one hear his calls for help. In this extremity he produced his pliers and cut the fence, riding up to the house, where he was given assistance and then taken to the nearest town for surgical attention for his broken leg.

The rancher declares that had his horse not waited for him he would have frozen to death. He was several miles from home when the accident happened, and it would have been impossible for him to have crawled that distance.

OHIO BANKERS ARE FIGHTING CORN BORER

Will Line Up With Farmers to Exterminate the Pest —to Meet at O. S. U.

Ohio bankers, who have thrown the weight of their influence into the fight against the European Corn Borer, are to become personally acquainted with the pest.

In the interest of cooperation with farmers in the extermination of the borer, bankers who come to Columbus for the two day school in agriculture to be held at Ohio State university next Tuesday and Wednesday, will devote a considerable portion of one day to an intimate study of the larvae which now infest corn fields in approximately half the state.

Agricultural experts will go into the life history of the borer with the bankers. They will point out the possibility of damage to be done by the pest, its effect upon farming conditions and the financial structure of communities in which it is present, and describe the proper methods of combatting the scourge.

A. S. Thomas, of Mt. Sterling, chairman of the agricultural committee of the association, who has had long experience in both banking and farming holds with other argicultrists that the corn borer is potentially the most serious threat ever faced by Ohio farmers. Bankers cannot have too much knowledge of the situation created by the coming of the borer, he believes.

"Cooperated effort is the only way to stamp out the corn borer," he declares, "and maximum cooperation cannot be had unless there is full understanding on the part of all concerned. Farmers, particlarly in the infested regions, need the help of the banks and this can be given most intelligently when there is mutual appreciation of the problem at hand and of the best means of solving it."

Registrations for the two day course indicate the attendance of some two hundred directors, officers and employes of banks thruout the state, according to Charles H. Mylander, secretary of the Bankers' association.

Early Sagas

The Sagas are Icelandic tales partly historical and biographical and partly fabulous, but giving a vivid idea of the manners and life of the days in which they were written. The first writer of Sagas lived in the Eleventh century, and his work dealt with Iceland and the early Norwegian kings. The Edda, an account of Scandinavian mythology, was written about the year 1200 A. D.

ARTIC EXPLORER COOK IS NOW OUT ON PAROLE

Has Served Eour of a Fourteen Year Term, Was an Oil Stock Promotor.

Probationary freedom for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and promoter, was granted at Fort Worth, Texas Thursday by Federal Judge James C. Wilson under a two year old federal prohibition law.

The order freeing Cook will be forwarded to Leavenworth penitentiary where Dr. Cook, who still claims to be the original discoverer of the North Pole, is serving a 14 year sentence on conviction of misuse of the mails for oil stock promotion.

The prisoner will be paroled to Erskine Williams, Fort Worth attorney, and churchman, while the government is preparing an appeal of the case which may go to the U. S. supreme court. District Attorney Henry Zweifel filed formal notice of appeal.

The probation, which is for five years, was granted under the law passed March 4, 1925, which gives federal district judges authority to liberate defendants and the present case is one of the few in which this authority has been exercised.

Government attorneys deny that a judge has power to grant probation after a prisoner has begun serving his term, and a few cases thus far tried appear to be in conflict, according to Assistant District Attorney J. Forest McCutcheon.

In holding in favor of Cook, Wilson stated that the new law is "a radical departure, without parallel," and gives the trial judge control over the latter's sentence."

"The act gives district judges, in some senses, pardoning power not enjoyed by the president," said Judge Wilson.

He stated that in his opinion the original sentence against Cook was excessive, that Cook now is a pauper and that if he served his full sentence he would be 75 years old when released.

Probation amounts virtually to suspended sentence. At the end of five years he will be eligible for pardon and will be forced to return to prison unless the president commutes or grants pardon.

Probation differs from parole. Under probation a prisoner continues under observation until the limit of his sentence.

Food Stored by Ants

In Panama, Colombia and Venezuela ants of a certain variety cut fragments of leaves, which they carry to their nests. On these leaves, the ants deposit the spawn of mushrooms. When the mushrooms grow, they are used as food for the young ants.

Valuable Rugs

"Orientals" are rugs from Persia, Turkey, Armenia and the surrounding territory of the Near East. Those made in Persia are said by experts to be the best. The Turkish rugs are seldom so fine, because their weave is coarser, the nap is longer, the materials not so good and aniline dyes are used instead of vegetable dyes which are more reliable.

Theory Concerning Seas

It is the opinion of a scientist that water imprisoned inside the earth blew off as steam, condensed and formed the seas.

U. S. TO USE POISON GAS IN WARFARE

THIS IS ITS ULTIMATUM IN NOTE TO WORLD LEAGUE

America Also Hurls Cold Water On To Proposal To Band Drills In the Use of Fumes or Germs—Safety Too Precious To Permit of Stoppage of Measures For Defense Against Chemical Warfare, Is Message—Supervision Likewise Opposed.

Whatever attitude the United States and the world eventually may adopt toward employment of poisonous gas in war time, League of Nations circles read from a document from Wash ington presented to the league Thursday at Geneva that the United States government has no intention to drop preparations for defense against possible gas and bacteria attacks.

In the memorandum, which caused considerable comment in Geneva, the United States throws cold water upon the suggestion that the countries should discontinue their interest in chemical products because chemical factories can be transformed into war instruments.

Washington contends it is well known that a great majority of chem ical products which can be used for purposes in war times the essential to the daily peace-time life of industry.

After emphasizing objections from the American viewpoint to the proposal to make international agreements concerning semi-war industries, Washington remarks that the same attitude applies to possible accords concerning means to hinder the convertibility of chemical factories into factories for the manufacture of poisonous gas.

The American note then rejects the proposal to have banned as a crime military or civilian drill, including air plane drill, in the use of gas and bacteria.

"It may be pointed out," the memorandum says, "that no nation could safely agree to refrain from preparations for defense against attack by chemical warfare regardless of the existence of international conventions prohibiting the use of such warfare.

"Te prepare against attack by such warfare, training in chemical matters is essential.

"To forbid absolutely training in the use of poison gas and bacteria would, in the broadest meaning, put an end to chemical and medical research. Such a measure would be impossible to administer."

There is a vigorous reiteration in the document of American opposition to any form of international supervision of armaments once an armament limitation agreement is reached. As for the suggestions of the league commission for the study of the economic aspects of disarmament that there shoulr be regulation of certain essential national industries, it also is declined by the United States, as is a recommendation for international agreements for an exchange of information and rationing of manufacturers in semiwar industries.

Discover Branch Fossil 100,000,000 Years Old

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A tree branch fossil estimated to be 100,000,000 years old is a prized possession of the Carnegie Institute of Technology here.

The fossil, found in a coal mine at Harmarsburg, Pa., is described by geologists as a "lepidodendron lanceolatum," a plant which contributed greatly to the forming of coal deposits in the carboniferous era.

The woody part of the tree became carbonized with other branches that became coal and the fossil is almost as thin as paper. It is a tree top four feet high with branches spreading three feet. Bark, limbs, twigs and leaves are very clearly marked.

Miners in the Harmar mine of the Consumer Mining company found the fossil in the slate roof of an entry, and the company gave it to the institute.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Cleveland —Frederick A. Cook, Arc tic explorer and promoter of questionable oil stock, may be brought to Cleveland to face indictments returned in 1923, charging use of the mails to defraud.

Middletown — The first case of diphtheria which has proved fatal in several months was reported in the death of Irving Weber, 25.

Athens — John Day miner, was seriously burned when he rescued his two children from a blazing coal shed. The children fired a can of coal oil with matches.

Glouster —The brick plant has resumed operations providing work for 100 men who have been idle since last October. A large supply of coal is on hand and continued operations are anticipated.

Columbus —When Arley Zinn, 17, of Parkersburg, West Virginia, got tired of attending Otterbein college at Westerville he disappeared. Police after searching for him since Tuesday received a letter today explaining that he got tired of school and was working in Akron.

Columbus —The appeal of Warden P. E. Thomas from the decision of the court of appeals granting E. L. Mills the right to interview Pat McDermott serving a life sentence for the murder of Don R. Mellett will be filed in the state supreme court this week.

Columbus — The bill to invalidate contracts of employes and employer not to join organizations would not violate the constitution according to an opinion handed down by Attorney General Turner.

Cleveland —They didn't believe she could earn her own living, so Margaret Croker, 19, high school graduate, decided she'd "show 'em."

Margaret was in jail, waiting trial because police claim they found her working as a bar maid in a west side "speakeasy." The girl said she answered an ad for a girl to do housework and then the "police came and got me."

Tenth precinct police raided a house and found Margaret in the kitchen, and 10 men with Carl Weber, alleged proprietor, lined up before an old-time bar.

The less a man knows the more cheerfully and confidently he advises his neighbor.

NEWS ABOUT COURT HOUSE

General Happenings Taken From the Records of the Various County Offices.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

Judge Joseph W. Adkins, of the probate court has rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Sarah J. Berger against the estate of Frank P. Berger, deceased. The plaintiff claims that she is the owner of 170 acres of land in Washington township, that she owned this land prior to her marriage to Frank P. Berger and seeks to collect the rentals for six years previous to his death. The court holds that Mrs. Berger has a legal right to the income from the farm, except for the last year, which was collected by her. The net income per year as nearly as can be shown is $600, and under the decision she is entitled to recover $3000 plus interest.

Milt Morris represented the plaintiff; C. A. Weldon represented the city of Circleville; and I. F. Snyder represented the estate.

Divorce Granted

A divorce was granted to Mrs. Ella Tigner from William McKinley Tigner on the grounds of extreme cruelty and gross neglect. C. A. Weldon represents the plaintiff.

Appointed Guardian.

Alta E. Goldsberry has been appointed guardian of her brother, Bernard A. Morton, a veteran of the World war, who is now in the Dayton hospital.

Suit in Foreclosure.

The Scioto bank, of Commercial Point, has filed suit in common pleas court against D. F. Seeds and Effie Seeds for the foreclosure of a mortgage of $1600 at 6 per cent from December 8, 1925. I. F. Snyder represents the plaintiff.

Given Jail Sentence.

Jesse Swank was arrested at his home in Darbyville by Constable Arthur Strawser, on a warrant issued under the compulsory school law, sworn to by T. J. Morris, county truant officer. In a hearing before Justice Friece he was found guilty and was given fifteen days in the county jail.

Marriage License

Miller Caldwell, 21, mechanic, Columbus, and Ethel Hughes, 21, Circleville. Rev. G. J. Troutman.

Kings Portrayed

The class had been asked to write an essay on kings, and this is what one sent in: The most powerful king on earth is Wor-king; the laziest, Shirking; the wittiest, Jo-king; the quietest, Thin-king; the thirstiest, Drinking; the slyest, Win-king, and the noisiest, Tal-king.

Popularity is much harder to keep than acquire.

LIFE SPAN TO BE 125.

A life span of 125 years and old age of a few months, instead of many years, are among the future possibilities discussed by Dr. Serge Voronoff, eminent specialist in grand operations in Paris, before an assemblage of foreign newspaper correspondents.

It had been established, Vornoff said, that certain men had lived 125 years. "Therefore," he added, "I and others have the right to live that long."

Voronoff said the glands make the human machinery run and consequently the replacement of glands means that life can be prolonged. He added that 1,000 glands had been grafted over a period of seven year, and the future would tell how long the new glands would last.

White House Employs Small Clerical Force

Washington.—With the exception of the fine arts commission which has but two hired hands, the White House has the smallest clerical force of any government department or independent bureau.

Forty-four employees, including three women, are assigned to the executive offices to assist President Coolidge administrate the nation's business.

Uncle Sam employs a total of 560,705 persons to keep the wheels of government moving, compared with a total of 438,-57 in 1916. When the armistice was signed in November, 1918, the largest number of clerks in history, 917,760, were on the government pay rolls.

The Post-Office department leads the field in employees with 305,985. The Treasury department is second with 51,619 and the War department third with 48,768. The Justice department has the smallest number, 3,763, of any of the executive departments.

BROTHERHOOD FARM PROGRAM THURSDAY EVE

Corn Borer Menace Was Discussed by Howard Orr and County Agent Lewis.

A hundred men were present Thurs day evening at the meeting of the Lutheran brotherhood to hear the Farm Bureau program subject, "The Corn Borer," on which Howard Orr, of the Winorr Canning company, and H. S. Lewis, local agent of the Farm Bureau, were the speakers.

Both emphatically emphasized the dreadful results of this devastating pest, of the nearness of this menace to Pickaway county, to the fact that the Corn Borer is proof against every effort to cope with it, excepting one—a one hundred percent clean-up process, which work can be foiled in an entire neighborhood by the carelessness of one single farmer.

This problem is not alone the farmers'. Corn being the backbone from which we all, in the central states, derive our subsistence, it is imperative that Chambers of Commerce, Rotarians, Brotherhoods and all other civic organizations work in harmony with the farm clubs so as to bring about a certainty of all desired projects.

This cooperaion is already functioning—not alone of their own free will, but because the state and nation, by appropriating large sums of money, are demanding full understanding and the closest working harmony of all individuals from both farm and city. To this end the Brotherhood Thursday night passed a resolution requesting our Pickaway county representatives to support the Hamilton Compulsory Clean Up law, to apply in pest ridden sections, which is now before the legislative bodies.

Mr. Lewis intimated that owing to this year's high waters he would not be surprised to find the corn borer in Pickaway county this 1927, water most naturally carrying this larva more hastily than the winds.

Those of us who have heard Mr. Orr on different occasions, on this subject of the Corn Borer, know that he has not only made a deep study of the subject but is doing everything in his power to bring the people of Pickaway county to a full realization of this terrible menace.

The Farm Bureau we wish to congratulate for its good luck, or its fore sight in securing a man like Mr. Lewis, who has had the necessary experience with the borer to make a fine leader, and if snap judgment is of any worth, Mr. Lewis has the necessary qualifications to carry the heavy responsibility that goes with this leadership.

Charles Mack and his assistants served weineis with weinie rolls, cheese, dill pickles and coffee.

Mr. Purnell of the Coit-Albie Chautauqua and entertainers company of Cleveland explained a lecture course of five numbers. He carried a piano accordian with which he gave several selections. He also sang as well as he played.

C. F. Seitz sprung a new set of four harmonizers who sang several voices. We hope to hold them together. Next meeting April 7.

Reasonable Supposition

AMUSEMENTS

A story of love and loyalty pitted against hate and avarice in the great north woods is running at the Met theater under the title of "North Star," an Associated Exhibitors' production, starring the famous dog actor, Strongheart.

A boy with no friends, with the exception of his frail sister, is the victim of a frame up, perpetrated by one Robbins, and flees, the dog accompanying him. They are separated, and the dog finds a protector and friend in Notl Blake, who rescues him from two brutal tramps. Eventually North Star, which is the dog's name, brings Blake and the sister together, clears the boy of the charge against him, and pursures Robbins until the latter in his fright fall over the edge of a precipice.

Virginia Lee Corbin, Ken Maynard, Stuart Holmes and Harold Austin, who hold the principal parts are well cast and give interesting and convincing interpretations of their roles while Strongheart, by virtue of his simple and canine nature, is more than convincing. He is himself, and with the help of the others, carries the plot thru to a powerful climax.

Rufus King is the author of the original widely circulated novel of the same name, from which Charles Horan adapted the plot to the screen.

"North Star," is a Howard Eastbrook production, directed by Paul Powell, in which Strongheart appeared thru the courtesy of Miss Jane Murfin, his owner.

Others in the cast include such well known names as Clark Gable, William Riley, Syd Crossley, Jerry Mandi, Marte Faust and Jack Fowler.

HARTMAN THEATER.

The Messrs. Shubert's "The Student Prince" will again offer its altogether bewitching melodic appeal to theater goers at the Hartman theater next Monday night, for a limited engagement of three days with matinee on Wednesday.

This story of a prince who falls in love with a lowly commoner had a peculiar grip on theater goers. It is one of several costume musical offerings that can be said to have a universal appeal.

It would be difficult to place one's fingers on the particular moments of the operetta which interest audiences most. Many theatergoers have seen it three and four times and found in each visit an added beauty that was overlooked on the previous visit.

There is no doubt but what Sigmund Romberg has composed a delightful score. There are so many numbers, which call for encores that to call the outstanding moment of the operetta would be an offense to the beautw of another number in the operetta. "Deep in My Heart, Dear," the love duet between the prince and Kathie has tender lilt. It practically acts as the theme of the romantic environment. "Golden Days," "Just We Two," "The Student's Serenade," "To the Inn We're Marching" and "The Drinking Song" all offer something to bring the audiences' hands togother to demand encores.

The company this year will be headed by Lloyd Garrett, a young tenor who has received flattering commendation from both critics and public. Ruth Williams will be "Kathie." Margaret Cantrell as the princess and Divid Reese as "Detleff." Others are James Heenan, Gertrude Maitland, Emmy Niclas, Carl Formes, the third generation of a family of noted singers, Robert Grieg and Gus Alexander.

There will be a student male chorus of fifty and an augmented orchestra of twenty.

Pajamas Ruled Out; Nightgown "Bob" Now

New York.—The short skirt is going on a 24-hour basis.

That was the outstanding revelation at the annual lingerie fashion show which drew 2,500 people to the grand ballroom of a fashionable hotel here.

Mannequins paraded in the filmiest of underthings to demonstrate what the well-dressed woman of 1927 will wear beneath her outer clothing by day and in her boudoir by night.

There was a striking tendency away from pajamas in the matter of night attire. A new nightgown appeared. Lace and ribbon flowers predominated in its decoration and its skirt—if that is what the lower half of a nightgown can be called—was short, coming perhaps half way between trim ankle and dimpled knee.

The culotte or dance set dominated the showing of lingerie for wear during waking hours.

There was a gorgeous showing of negligees and lounging costumes, some so brilliant in their gold and silver fabric and so formally cut that they could easily pass in any ballroom for evening gowns.

Flesh and Deauville blue were dominating colors.
